Town Board to Elect Teachers

At the regular meeting of the Town Board Saturday night it was decided that the teachers for the city school the coming term would be elected Saturday night, June 17th. All teachers desiring consideration of the board should file their application with the chairman or clerk before that date. The tax levy for the current year will also be made at this meeting. Citizens and patrons of the school desiring a voice in these matters will please be present and state their views then, instead of afterward, when it will do no good. The meeting will be held at the Clay City Garage office.

Normal School Commences

The Powell County Normal School was opened at Stanton Monday with an attendance of forty-two. Those attending from Clay City are: F. P. Tracy, C. L. Smith, Mrs. Lizzie Derickson, Misses Olga Tracy, Julia Ringo, Julia Kirk, Myrtle Wright, Addie and Eva Gillis, and Marie Pettit. Miss Maude Bowen, the superintendent, is jubilant over the prospects, and says the school will be a certain success if it continues as it started off.

Natural Bridge Party

The following members of Miss Nelson's class composed a Sunday School party to Natural Bridge last Thursday. Misses Katherine Mountz, Mattie and Ethelyn Daniel, Margrete Means, Elizabeth Barnett, Theadis Chapman, Iva Smith, Lester Carr, Louis Eaton, Hubert Carr. Accompanying the party were Miss Nelson, Mesdames Emma Mountz and J. R. Nelson. All reported an enjoyable outing.

After Results

John Kimbrell has cleared his lot of wreckage from the fire and is building a new shop, 20 x 40 feet. Joe Mountz has cleared up his garage site and is planning on erecting a fireproof steel building, 40 x 60 feet. The mill people are loading and shipping the ruins of their machinery for scrap iron. The burning of this mill was a distinct loss to Clay City, and everyone regrets that it will not be rebuilt.

Aged Father Slain by Son

John C. Vance, of Morgan county, aged 60 years, was shot and killed Sunday, May 21st, by his son, Elijah Vance. Young Vance pleads insanity. He was held over to the grand jury without bond.

The Three Oldest Violins

J. B. Lucas, of this city, has possibly, the three oldest violins in this part of the State. One of these violins is 222 years old; one 201 years old and one 175 years old, according to inscriptions printed on the back of the violin inside and to be seen through the sound holes.

The oldest one reads: "Copy of violin made by Antonius Stradivarius cremoneus in year 1700."

The inscription in the second one is: "Copie D. E. Antonius Stradivarius cremoneus faciebat anno 1721. (As) J. T. Lou.

The age of the 175 year old fiddle is determined by tradition.

Mr. Lucas prizes these violins very highly, and they are indeed valuable for the splendid music in them till yet as well as their extreme old age.

Sherman Townsend on Street

For the first time in more than six months, Sherman Townsend was on the streets Tuesday, being wheeled in an invalid's chair by his brother, Reuben. Sherman has no use of the leg he has, and he may not be able to wear a cork leg on the limb that had to be amputated to save his life. Sherman has had a very hard time of it, and his many friends deeply sympathize with him in his misfortune, but are glad that he is able to be wheeled about.

Garrett Attends Highway Meeting

H. G. Garrett, as member of the State Highway Commission, attended a meeting of the Dixie Highway promoters at Jacksonville, Fla., two days week before last. A large delegation was present from Michigan to Florida. Great interest in the project is manifested throughout the Southland.

Winchester Boosters

The Winchester Boosters, three cars strong, visited us Wednesday morning distributing souvenirs and giving hearty handshakes. Judge L. F. Mann delivered a brief welcome address to the visitors in well-chosen remarks. They carried a good band and made things cheerful for us and received a hearty welcome which they seemed to appreciate.

Fugitive Caught in Powell

Bill Mitchell, colored, who has been living near West Bend, this county, for more than one year, was arrested yesterday by Sheriff Welch and Deputy Dennis, and the Sheriff of Bourbon county assisting. He had broken jail several months ago, and had since made good his escape until yesterday.

Wet Weather Continues

Only about one-half the time is it so farmers can plow their crops, but grass is growing immensely. Wheat crops are also fine and will soon be ready to harvest. The blackberry crop is looking fine and will be on the market in three weeks. Corn is getting weedy.

New Strength Added

to Stanton Bank

On June 5th there was effected a reorganization of the Powell County Deposit Bank that adds additional strength to the banking situation of Powell County.

For many years this bank has been meeting the requirements of its section, with Mr. John W. Williams, of Stanton, as its President. Owing to his age and the demands of his individual affairs Mr. Williams has desired to place the active management of the institution in the hands of younger men. The increasing demands of business have caused the officers of this bank to feel that an increase of the capital stock would not only add to the strength of the bank financially, but enable it to more fully meet the requirements of the business interests of the community it serves; and in the reorganization, the interest of some new stockholders has been enlisted, and the capital stock increased to $25,000, which has been fully paid in.

While it is a matter of regret that Mr. Williams feels that he should not continue as the active head of the institution, his friends will be pleased to know that he will remain a stockholder, and take an active interest in the affairs of the bank.

The new board of directors are Thos. C. Hall, H. G. Garrett, H. C. Baker, J. H. Hardwick, Dr. I. W. Johnson, J. H. Williams and T. L. Gabbard.

Judge Hardwick has been elected President, Thos. C. Hall, vice president, with T. L. Gabbard as cashier, and Jouett Boone, assistant cashier.

Mr. Gabbard, the new cashier, has had many years of successful experience in the banking business, and is a valuable acquisition to this institution.

The following is a complete list of the stockholders:

A. T. Whitt, J. H. Hardwick, H. C. Baker, N. D. Wireman, T. C. Hall, I. W. Johnson, Jouett Boone, M. R. Lyle, Grant Hanks, Romulus Jackson, Mrs. Edmon Burgher, Robt. Blackburn, F. R. Blackburn, Jesse Crowe, Charlie Crowe, H. G. Garrett, L. P. Keith, T. L. Gabbard, John W. Williams, J. H. Williams, T. G. White.

Will Put up Steel Garage

Joe Mountz, who lost his building in the recent fire, will go to Cincinnati this week to purchase a complete all-steel garage. He has his plans and specifications prepared and he has been assured by contractors that the building can be erected in a very short time which will enable him to soon accommodate his patrons as formerly and much better.

Judge Mann at West Bend

Judge L. F. Mann preached Sunday morning at the West Bend Methodist church to an interested congregation. Pastor J. C. Everman is in Tennessee taking a brief ministerial course.

Oil Shale Seen as Great Industry

Sunday's Lexington Herald had an extensive writeup of the oil shale prospects, with particular reference to the Powell county shale. It is our pleasure to reproduce the article in full below:

"With the possibility of the oil resources of the United States and other countries diminishing to such an extent that the demand exceeds the supply, the establishment of plants for the refining of oil from oil shale looks up as the one means by which the world can be supplied with oil and its by-products and yield enormous national wealth, according to Dr. Victor C. Alderson, president of the Colorado School of Mines, who last Monday spoke to the students of the College of Engineering of the University of Kentucky, on the question.

"Dr. Alderson is the foremost authority on oil shales in the United States, and has visited every country in which these valuable deposits are found. Monday afternoon, accompanied by Prof. C. S. Crouse and W. E. Freeman, acting dean of the college, he visited the oil shale at Clay City, Powell county.

"Exhaustive experiments have been made at the University during the past two years in the extraction of oil from oil shale and a machine has recently been installed which it is claimed is capable of handling the oil shale on large quantities. Dr. Alderson visited the plant and was favorably impressed with the retort in use and stated that it involves several important features, namely:

"Correct fundamental principles, continuous operation, heat control, control of the time the shale is in transit through the retort, use of steam which increases and produces oil products, control of gases and vapors involved by immediate suction which prevents them being overheated or spoiled in formation.

"In discussing the time it would take to exhaust the supply of oil from the oil shale beds of Kentucky, Dr. Alderson estimated that 1,000 plants refining 2,000 tons of shale a day each would have to be in operation 125 years before the last drop of oil had been squeezed from the shale. The average thickness of the shale beds in Kentucky is 50 feet and the amount of oil extracted is such that a paying commercial proposition is certain provided the retort is able to handle the product in one continuous motion, he said.

"Kentucky has a plentiful supply of water near its oil shale beds which will permit the use of steam for the extraction of ammonia sulphate which cannot be taken from the oil unless superheated steam is used, he said. In Colorado, there are no oil shale beds located less than three miles from a water supply, which calls for the invention of a retort which will operate successfully without it. In Kentucky, there is cheap open cut steam shovel mining and the shale is of a uniform grade.

"The economic working conditions are such that once the industry is put on its feet it can be placed on a commercial basis, he said. The retort installed at the University of Kentucky can handle about 15 tons of the shale at one time and has proved it can fulfill its purpose of extracting every particle of oil from the shale.

Pains Were Terrific

Read how Mrs. Albert
Gregory, of R. F. D. No.
1, Bluford, Ill., got rid of her ills. "During . . . I was awfully weak . . .
My pains were terrific. I thought I would die. The bearing-down pains were actually so severe I could not stand the pressure of my hands on the lower part of my stomach . . .
I simply felt as if life was but for short time. My husband was worried . . .
One evening, while reading
the Birthday Almanac, he came across a case similar to mine, and went straight for some Cardui for me to try.

TAKE CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I took it faithfully and the results were immediate," adds Mrs. Gregory.
"I continued to get better, all my ills left me, and I went through . . .
with no further trouble.
My baby was fat and strong, and myself—thank God—am once more Hale and hearty, can walk
miles, do my work,
though 44 years old, feel like a new person. All I owe to Cardui." For many years Cardui has been found helpful in building up the system
when run down by disorders peculiar to women.
